

Key

In an emergency

Defibrillator: Nearest available in Hartland (village).
www.defibfinder.uk – to find the defibrillators nearest to you.

Mobile signal: Variable but generally available on higher ground.

Information icons

Bench

Dogs: Welcome under close control

Toilets: In Hartland

Parking: National Trust car park at East Titchberry

View point

No bikes on farmland

Bikes allowed on South West Coast Path

Not wheelchair accessible (stiles, uneven ground)

Travel

Start point: East Titchberry National Trust car park
(Grid ref: SS244270)

Bus routes: No direct service to the start; nearest routes go to Hartland village.

By road: From Bude or Bideford follow signs toward Hartland Point and Lighthouse; the car park is just before the point.

What3words: ///sues.email.sampled

© North Devon National Trust

A gentle walk to be enjoyed at your own pace

East Titchberry

Finding Nature's Footprints

This three-year Heritage Lottery-funded project, delivered by North Devon Coast National Landscape, helped local people connect with nature and boost wellbeing.

About these guides

These maps and guides are here to help and inspire everyone to explore nature and discover new places across the North Devon Coast National Landscape.

North Devon Coast National Landscape

Taw View, North Walk, Barnstaple, Devon EX31 1EE
www.northdevoncoast-nl.org.uk

E: aonb@devon.gov.uk T: 01392 388628

@explorethecoast on Facebook and Instagram

Supported by:

National Trust

Disclaimer: All material was correct at time of going to print in 2026.

The publisher takes no responsibility for any inaccuracies.

Leaflet design: www.lathwellcreative.com

North Devon
Coast
National Landscape

East Titchberry sits on the dramatic Hartland Peninsula, offering sweeping views across Shipload Bay, wild coastal scenery and glimpses towards Lundy Island.

This peaceful 3-mile circular route begins at the National Trust car park, leading you through the farmyard and out towards the coast before joining the South West Coast Path. Here you can enjoy wide sea views and rugged cliff-top scenery, before the trail loops inland through open farmland, historic fields, quiet bridleways and hedged lanes, bringing you back to East Titchberry with a real sense of the North Devon coastline.

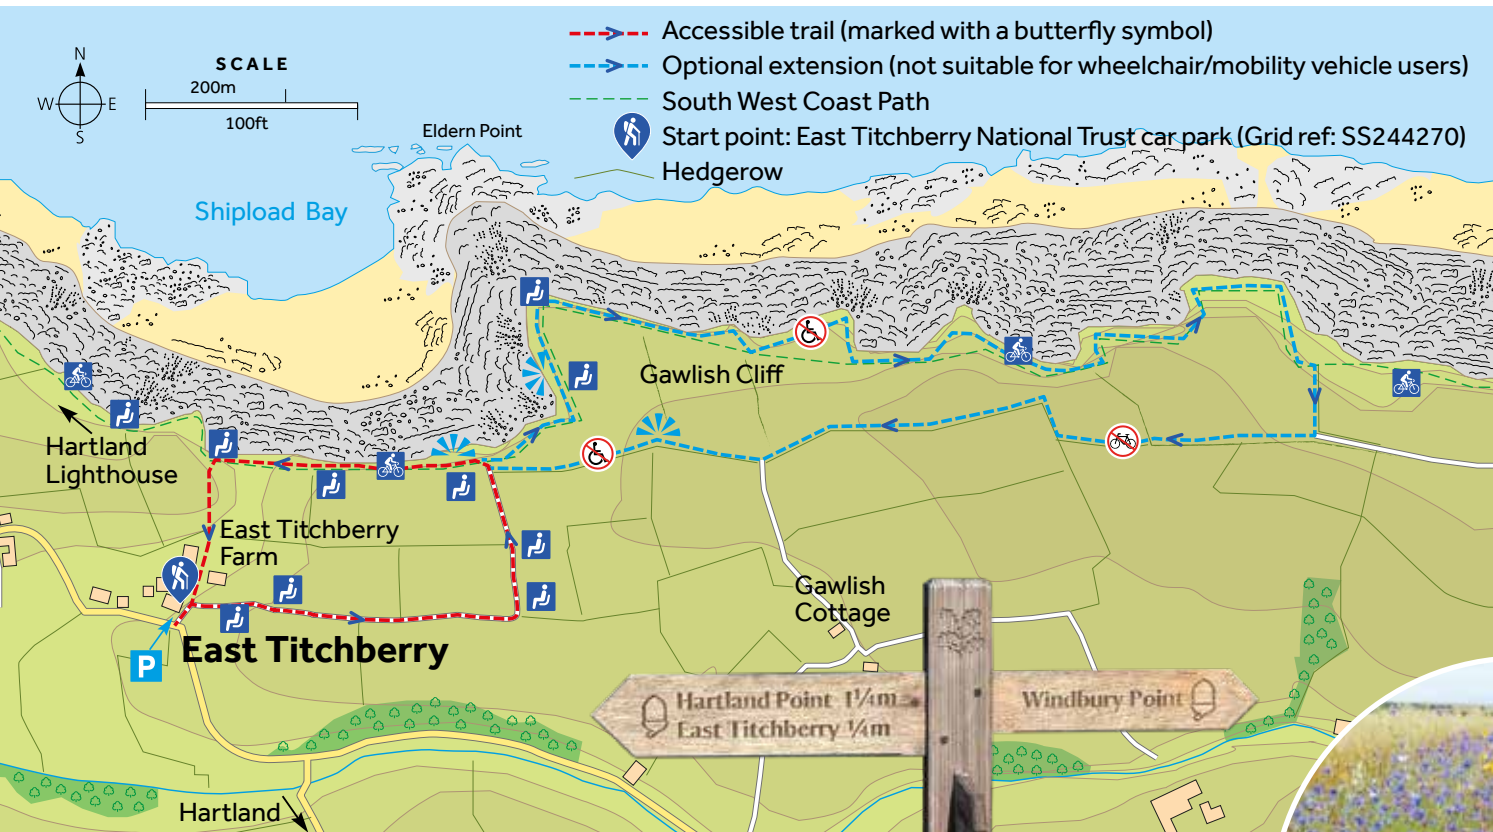

The 15th century East Titchberry Farm
© North Devon National Trust

Look out for history

Follow ancient Devon hedge banks and old field boundaries as you make your way towards the coast. Much of this landscape has been shaped for centuries by farming and maritime activity.

The 17th century malthouse at East Titchberry Farm

Look out for wildlife

Keep an eye out for seabirds, Peregrine falcon, grazing livestock and coastal wildflowers along the cliffs. You can spot marine life from the route above Shipload Bay, on calm days.

Peregrine falcon

Terrain

This is a moderate circular walk with a mix of grassy, gravel and concrete paths. Expect gates and steps, and some narrower sections. Surfaces can be slippery when wet, especially through farm areas. The shorter section has many bench rest stops to take in the view.

Level 2 according to the Disabled Ramblers grading system.

Wildflowers at Titchberry

